

Modification of teaching from October 12, 2020

The teaching is going to be modified according to the below-mentioned guidelines from October 12, 2020.

Study programme General Medicine

1. Teaching of the preclinical subjects (at the theoretical departments) is going to take place in a combined form:

lectures – in a distance form of teaching (online)

practicals – in a combined form of teaching

2. Due to the observance of epidemiological measures, the number of students is reduced at departments and the preclinical practicals are carried out as follows:

a) even week: for groups with an even number, the teaching is going to take place in the full-time form, for groups with an odd number, the teaching is going to take place in the distance form,

b) odd week: for groups with an odd number, the teaching is going to take place in the full-time form, for groups with an even number, the teaching is going to take place in the distance form

(e.g.: 12.10. - 16.10.2020- even week = groups 2, 4, 6, 8, ... practicals in presence, groups 1, 3, 5, 7, ... practicals in the distance form).

3. The teaching of clinical subjects is going to take place in presence only for the students of the 6th year of study of the study programme General Medicine. The students whose study continues with the block of Internal Medicine and Surgery will be tested for COVID-19 on October 12, 2020. More information about testing will be sent to the students by e-mail. Only a student who has a negative antigen test can participate in teaching.
